July 2026

From the Pastor

A few years ago, while my doctor was reviewing my bloodwork as a part of my annual physical, she became concerned about my elevated A1C number. With diabetes in my family history, she advised me to lose weight and cut down on carbohydrates. My chart now listed me as “pre-diabetic.” She asked if I thought I could do it without other help. I confidently said yes. A year later, with the A1C number still elevated, she repeated the advice and prescribed metformin. With renewed commitment to improve my diet and exercise more, I was confident I could get my A1C under control. The next year, with still elevated A1C, she doubled my metformin and told me if the A1C went up any higher, she would have to put the label “diabetic” in my chart.

I have since kept the A1C number below the diabetic range, but not by much. In truth, my effort to exercise more and change my diet has been half-hearted at best. (After all, there are potato chips and donuts in the world.) I have been living in the delusion that things will get better even without real change. But that is not how things work. Without adapting my lifestyle, without change, diabetes will be a part of my future and all the consequences thereof.

Our congregations find themselves in a similar situation. We are, currently, getting by. And even though St. James is currently in a stronger financial situation, I still would not call the long-term prognosis for either congregation exactly rosy. Our worship attendance is low. Our offerings are keeping us just out of the red – usually. But we may be just one unexpected negative event from tipping the scale. It is delusional to believe that we can keep on going and doing things as we currently are, and that things will get better. They won’t get better and likely will get worse.

And so, we are faced with a choice. Do we continue as we have been and suffer the consequences (like closing), or do we seek real change in order to continue the mission to which we have been called? Certainly, change is uncomfortable. But it can also be life-giving.

What are some of the possible changes?

- Perhaps we embrace the “evangelical” part of our name and reach out to the people around us with the good news of God’s love and invite them to be part of the ministry. (Historically, as Lutherans that does not seem likely.)
- Perhaps more of us are inspired by God’s call to be generous givers and make significant increases in our financial support of the ministry. But even that is probably only a temporary solution.

- Or perhaps we embrace real change in the way we see ourselves. Maybe it's time to stop identifying ourselves as "Calvary" or "St. James" or any other name, and see ourselves as parts of the one body of Christ, utilizing our unique gifts for the benefit of the whole body.

There are significant decisions ahead for us. Our willingness to take seriously the need to change may be the only thing that allows us to not only survive, but thrive, as God's people in Rock Island and Moline.

I'll conclude with a real-life example.

Last summer, as you may recall, I had the opportunity to officiate at a wedding at one of the congregations from my first call. That congregation, Mt. Calvary, was part of two-point parish. A few years ago, the other congregation left the ELCA, leaving Mt. Calvary in a precarious position and without a pastor. At the same time, another congregation in the area closed. Geographically between those two congregations was a three-point parish (Samuel's, Messiah and St. Paul) that was also struggling and unable to support a full-time pastor.

Recognizing that things could not continue as is, the leaders of those congregations sought creative ways to change. The result was a cooperative ministry between all four congregations under the gifted leadership of a part-time synodically authorized minister (SAM) who is also a full-time elementary school principal. These four congregations continue to worship each Sunday, but not in each building each week. Instead, they alternate between buildings, two each week. Certainly, it was painful for many people to not be worshiping in their own sanctuary weekly. But the result of this arrangement is fuller (from a range of 15-40 worshipers in four buildings to 50-60 worshipers in each building), more inspired worship together than they had separately. These collaborating congregations are thriving in their worship and mission because they were willing to embrace real change.

As you are aware, I will be retiring soon. Decisions will need to be made about the future of our congregations. This will be an opportune time to consider real changes that will bring new life and vitality to our ministry.

In Christ,

Pastor Knowles

LSTC Scholarship Fund

St. James Lutheran Church Rock Island has a Scholarship Fund at the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago (LSTC). In 2021 funds were provided by generous members' gifts which were matched from the Eleanor Blomberg bequest, memorials and a bequest for Don Peterson, and a distribution amount from St. James church endowment.

The scholarship was endowed at $28,000. The balance in this fund in 2025 was $37,361. This year additional funds of $2,500 from St. James Endowed Memorial Fund were added. Special thanks to St. James members for their gifts

The recipient of the endowed pastoral scholarship this year was Megan M. Mong, a Master of Divinity student at LSTC from Salina, Kansas. Megan attended Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, for her undergraduate work.

She completed her studies at LSTC in May and has been serving as an intern at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Billings, Montana. She has also spent half days serving at St. John's United retirement home and day care for children in a multigenerational setting.

Megan plans to do a further internship when she returns home to Kansas this summer. We hope that she might be able to visit St. James when she returns to the Chicago area in October.

Synod Assembly Highlights

June 12-13, 2026 • Augustana College, Rock Island

What is to prevent us from going deeper in our faith, going deeper in the waters of baptism, and going out into the world with those baptized eyes and heart every day?

We don't expect it. The world certainly doesn't expect it. And it's hard to explain it when it happens. What is to prevent you – and me – from coming out of the waters of our baptism every day with eyes that see the beautiful, beloved neighbor that God calls us to love?

ANNOUNCED Crossroads

KEYNOTE

Rev. Laurie Skow-Anderson

“A future focused church is living our baptismal promises in daily life. A future focused church is humbler, simpler, and bolder. A future focused church is wondering about God's will, hopeful about the future, courageous, and curious about God's will.”
